* Raw scores should be calculated as the number correct only. Do NOT subtract $\frac{1}{4}$ of a point for an incorrect answer.

 All of these conversions are my own estimations based on recent data and my own personal research. They should NOT be taken as a guarantee of any score, but rather be used as a guideline to estimate your progress.

 A perfect score on this test is likely to get you at least the indicated raw score percentile. For example, getting 66 correct on GR1768 indicates you are likely to get at least a scaled score of 910 (96th percentile).
